

Life Mapping offers parents an important tool for helping their child prosper and grow!

Unfolding the Tent

ADVOCATING FOR YOUR ONE-OF-A-KIND CHILD

Anne Addison

This book, directed to the parents of children with neurological and related disorders, introduces the concept of life mapping as a systematic approach to developing goals and strategies that guide an individual towards reaching his highest potential.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Anne Addison is the author of One Small Starfish: A Mother's Everyday Advice, Survival Tactics & Wisdom for Raising a Special Needs Child. She has lectured at conferences throughout the country and her writings are featured in numerous magazines. She runs a private company and is a member of education and health-care related boards. She lives in Connecticut with her husband and two children.

TESTIMONIALS

“Parenting is a very challenging responsibility, made even more so when a child has special needs. In this remarkable book, Anne Addison shares her experiences as a parent of a son with special needs. Not only does she poignantly reveal her feelings and thoughts, but she also introduces the concept of Life Mapping, a strength-based, realistic process that parents can use to assist their children realize their potential. This book is an excellent resource not only for parents but also for professionals who work with exceptional children.”

– Robert Brooks, Ph.D., Harvard Medical School
Author, The Self-Esteem Teacher
Co-author, Raising Resilient Children

“Anne Addison viscerally describes parental challenges connected with behavioral and attentional disorders. Her methods of evaluating the source of difficult behaviors, her take on life mapping, and her suggestions for caregivers to “rewire” their minds are truly unique, positive and insightful. Every parent of a newly diagnosed child should read this book!”

– Susan J. Moreno, M.A.A.B.S., president, MAAP Services for Autism & Asperger Syndrome

APC

Autism Asperger Publishing Company

877-277-8254 (toll-free) • www.asperger.net